

Section – Wellbeing Policy No – WEL005

Child Safe Standards, Standard 5, Child Protection Reporting Policy – procedures for responding to and reporting allegations of suspected child abuse

Statement:

Tyrrell College considers the safety of children as being paramount importance. Tyrrell College has a zero tolerance of child abuse.

Purpose of this policy

To define the roles and responsibilities of school staff in protecting the safety and wellbeing of children and young people and to enable staff to:

- identify indicators that a child or young person may be in need of protection.
- make a report about a child or young person who may be in need of protection
- comply with reporting obligations under child protection law and criminal law and fulfil their duty of care.

Policy

Reporting child protection concerns

Mandatory reporters, who believe on reasonable grounds that a child or young person is in need of protection from physical injury or sexual abuse, must report their concerns to Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) Child Protection.

All other school staff members who form a belief on reasonable grounds that a child or young person:

- is in need of protection, should report their concerns to DHHS Child Protection or Victoria Police.
- is displaying sexually abusive behaviours and is in need of therapeutic treatment should report their concerns to DHHS Child Protection.

If staff have significant concerns for the wellbeing of a child or young person they should report their concerns to DHHS Child Protection or Child FIRST.

In cases where staff have concerns about a child or young person, they should also discuss their concerns with the principal or a member of the school leadership team.

Reporting criminal child sexual abuse - failure to disclose offence

Any staff member who forms a reasonable belief that a sexual offence has been committed in Victoria by an adult against a child under 16 must disclose that information to police. Failure to disclose the information to police is a criminal offence, except in limited circumstances such as where the information has already been reported to DHHS Child Protection.

The offence applies to all adults in Victoria, not just professionals who work with children. To read more information about the 'failure to disclose' offence, see: Department of Justice and Regulation – Failure to disclose offence

Duty of care

School staff have a duty of care to protect the safety, health and wellbeing of children in their care. If a staff member has concerns about the safety, health and wellbeing of children in their care they should take immediate action.

In the case of a child who may be in need of protection or therapeutic treatment, or where there are significant concerns about the wellbeing of a child, school staff can discharge this duty of care by taking action which includes the following:

- reporting their concerns to the DHHS Child Protection or another appropriate agency (as identified above)
- notifying the principal or a member of the school leadership team of their concerns and the reasons for those concerns.

Protecting children from the risk of sexual abuse - failure to protect offence

Any staff member in a position of authority, who becomes aware that an adult associated with their organisation (such as an employee, contractor, volunteer or visitor) poses a risk of sexual abuse to a child under the care, authority or supervision of the organisation, must take all reasonable steps to remove or reduce that risk. This may include, for example, removing the adult from child-related work pending investigation. If a staff member in a position of authority fails to take reasonable steps in these circumstances, this may amount to a criminal offence.

The offence applies only to adults in a position of authority within an organisation, including Principals, senior school staff, regional directors and other senior managers.

To read more information about the 'failure to protect offence', see: Department of Justice and Regulations – Failure to protect offence Note: Department policies already require school staff to uphold a high standard of care in relation to child safety and wellbeing.

For more information about managing and responding to the risk of abuse see: Duty of care, Responding to Student Sexual Assault and Risk Management under Department resources below.

Forming a 'reasonable belief'

A 'reasonable belief' or a 'belief on reasonable grounds' is not the same as having proof but is more than mere rumour or speculation.

A 'reasonable belief' is formed if a reasonable person in the same position would have formed the belief on the same grounds. For example, a 'reasonable belief' might be formed if:

- a child states that they have been physically or sexually abused
- a child states that they know someone who has been physically or sexually abused (sometimes the child may be talking about themselves)
- someone who knows a child states that the child has been physically or sexually abused

- professional observations of the child's behaviour or development leads a professional to form a belief that the child has been physically or sexually abused or is likely to be abused
- signs of abuse lead to a belief that the child has been physically or sexually abused.

Types of child abuse and indicators of harm

Child abuse can have a significant effect on a child's physical or emotional health, development and wellbeing.

Types of child abuse include:

- physical abuse
- sexual abuse
- emotional abuse
- neglect
- medical neglect
- family violence
- human trafficking (including forced marriage)
- sexual exploitation (including pornography and prostitution).

A report should be made to DHHS Child Protection in circumstances where, for example:

- the child is engaging in risk-taking behaviour
- female genital mutilation has occurred, or there is a risk of it occurring
- there is a risk to an unborn child
- a child or young person is exhibiting sexually-abusive behaviours
- there are indications that a child is being groomed. For information see: Department of Justice and Regulation – Grooming offence.

There are many indicators of child abuse and neglect. The presence of a single indicator, or even several indicators, does not prove that abuse or neglect has occurred. However, the repeated occurrence of an indicator, or the occurrence of several indicators together, should alert teachers to the possibility of child abuse and neglect.

Note: For full definitions for all of the types of child abuse and a comprehensive list of the indicators of harm, see: Appendix 2 in Protecting the safety and wellbeing of children and young people under Department resources below.

Reasonable belief that a sexual offence has been committed by an adult against a child under 16.

Any adult who forms a reasonable belief that a sexual offence has been committed in Victoria by an adult against a child under 16 must report that information to police. It is a criminal offence not to make a report, except in the following circumstances:

- The victim is 16 years of age or older and does not have an intellectual disability that limits his/her capacity to make an informed decision; and he/she does not want the information reported to the police
- The victim has disclosed the information in confidence in the course of a therapeutic relationship with you as a registered medical practitioner or counsellor.
- The victim turned 16 years of age before 27 October 2014.

Reasonable excuses for failing to comply with the requirement include:

- a reasonable belief that the information has already been reported to police or DHHS Child Protection disclosing all of the information
- a reasonable fear that the disclosure will place someone (other than the alleged perpetrator) at risk of harm

- Any person aged 18 or over

- Victoria Police

Appendix Two

New criminal offence to protect children from sexual abuse

What is the offence?

A new criminal offence for failing to protect a child under the age of 16 from the risk of sexual abuse commenced on 1 July 2015.

The offence requires a person in a position of authority to reduce or remove the risk of sexual abuse of a child by an adult associated with their organisation.

A person in a position of authority in the organisation will commit the offence if they know of the risk of abuse and have the power or responsibility to reduce or remove the risk, but negligently failed to do so.

Who does the offence apply to?

The offence applies to a person in authority in any organisation that exercises care supervision or authority over children. This includes certain Department of Health & Human Services staff and those working or volunteering for other organisations, including organisations that are not funded by the department.

A person in authority is someone who, by reason of their position within an organisation, has the power or responsibility to reduce or remove a substantial risk of child sexual abuse.

Examples of people in authority may include residential house supervisors, chief executive officers, board, council or committee members, school principals, service managers and religious leaders. It may also apply to people with less formal involvement in an organisation. For example, a volunteer parent coach responsible for the supervision of a junior sports team may be a person in authority, even if their role is informal or limited.

Who is a 'person associated with' an organisation?

The offence requires a person in authority to act if they know that a person associated with their organisation poses a substantial risk of child sexual abuse. This definition does not include a person solely because they receive services from the organisation. Examples include:

- Registered adult sex offenders who are receiving services from the department are not considered to be associated with the organisation solely because they are a client of the department. This means that the offence does not apply to risks posed by these clients.
- A parent living in the community who is involved with child protection services or who has a child in out-of-home care, and who may pose a risk of sexual abuse to a child, would not be considered to be 'associated with' the department under the offence.

The offence relates to risk of sexual abuse by adults. Therefore, a child under the age of 18 who poses a risk of abusing other children would not be covered by this offence.

However, staff should continue to comply with departmental standards, screening requirements, program requirements and policies on preventing, reporting and responding to child abuse, for example:

- Critical Client Incident Management Instruction; and
- Instruction on Responding to Allegations of Physical or Sexual Assault (RAPSA).
- Incident Reporting Instruction \(May 2013\) \(Health\) (for non-VHIMS reporting organisations)
- Victorian Health Incident Management Policy \(Health\) (for VHIMS reporting organisations).
- <http://www.vrqa.vic.gov.au/childsafepages/default.html>

Sports and recreation organisations can also refer to the Victorian Code of Conduct for Community Sport and VicSport 'Safeguarding Children' websites for resources about creating child-safe organisations.

Why is this offence being introduced?

This offence will encourage organisations to actively manage the risks of sexual offences being committed against children in their care and further protect them from harm.

The Victorian Government is strengthening laws to protect our children from sexual abuse and exposure to sexual offenders in response to Betrayal of Trust, the report of the Inquiry into Child Abuse by Religious and other Non-Organisations. This is in recognition of the shared community responsibility to protect children from abuse and to provide a safe environment for children.

Examples of organisations in scope of the offence

The offence applies to people in authority within a relevant organisation. A relevant organisation is one that exercises care, supervision or authority over children, whether as part of its primary function or otherwise. This includes organisations that are not funded by the Victorian Government.

Some examples of the types of organisations that fall within scope of the offence include:

- Churches and religious bodies
- education and care services (such as childcare centres, family day care services, kindergartens and outside school hours care services)
- licensed children's services such as occasional care services
- schools and other educational institutions
- organisations that provide accommodation to children and young people, such as boarding schools and student hostels
- out-of-home care services
- community service organisations providing services for children
- hospitals and other health services
- government agencies or departments providing services for children
- municipal councils (for example those that deliver Maternal and Child Health services)
- sporting groups and youth organisations
- charities and benevolent organisations providing services for children.

Further information

Further information about the offence is available on the Department of Justice & Regulation website at: <http://www.justice.vic.gov.au/home/safer+communities/protecting+children+and+families/failure+to+protect+of+fence>.
